Clip in extensions are used to add length and volume to the hairs and itâ€™s the best way to give unique look to the hairs without going parlors or hair salons. The best thing of these extension is they are be applied or removed anywhere and anytime in no time. If it has advantages, then it has disadvantages too. The main problem usually girls face is of choosing the Clip in Extensions colors and this problem is faced mainly by the girls who have blonde hair.

Different kinds of Extensions

The types of extensions generally available are natural and synthetic. From the two, synthetic clip in extensions are prepared from fibers made up from synthetic and they are comparatively good and heavier in quality as compared to the natural hairs. They are every time made up with silicone, monofilaments and polyester. Because it is heavier then the natural hairs, it remains straight for long time period even when blown either towards the opposite direction or blown by the wind. The positive point of the Clip on extensions is - no color or dye is required to use on it. It simply implies that what so ever color you choose while purchasing will remains same and if you desire to change the color then you have to buy the extension of different color. The another problem which is usually faced by the extension users is its maintenance, as it is made up of synthetic materials it is hard to wash and maintain the hairs.

On the other hand, normal extensions are made up of constructed hairs of a human being. It can be managed and treated same like own hairs. They are not very complicated to manage as compared to synthetic clip in extensions. The big advantage of choosing natural extensions is, these extensions can easily be curled, washed, dyed and straightened. As it is made up of natural human hairs, these extensions can trap the human eyes quickly as it look like original hairs. But the main drawback of these clips is, these clips are comparatively much expensive than synthetic one.

Choosing Extensions Tips

Choosing Clip in Extension for own use, one have to first choose the texture and the color which will suit their hairs and will look good on their face. To select the accurate extension it has been suggested that you should go for the texture and color same as your hairs.
