Do you wish to have lustrous hair? Everyone wants to but with changing lifestyle and busy schedule most of us have hair fall problems. This leads to thin hair line and embarrassing bald patches. With age one tends to face hair fall issues and sometimes this can be during or after pregnancy. For some this might be a hereditary issue. Nowadays hair transplant cost in Delhi is quite affordable and no longer meant only for the rich and famous. So, next time do not get worried about your receding hairline because there are experts to help you from this mess.

What Should You Know Before Hair Transplant?

With few simple sessions you can get your hair back with most advanced technique. It is painless, scar less and can be done with one sitting. Whenever you go for a hair transplant as a prospective client you have the right to ask questions so that you are well informed about the procedure and the doctor that is going to perform it. Always go for surgeon who is knowledgeable and well experienced means someone that can make you feel at ease. You can also go for online consultations till your questions are answered properly. You can also bring in your spouse, sibling or friend and take them into confidence.

Your physician should provide all surgical planning in writing. This should include the number of sessions in order to meet the desired results. It should also include surgical design, cost per graft and any special issues that need to be addressed. With hair transplant Delhi you can get all these. It is important to meet your surgeon on regular basis during the consultation process and prior to the surgery. It is also important that you read the consent form prior to the day of surgery so that you can decide you are comfortable with the surgery procedure or not.

What is FUE Hair Transplant?

Speaking about FUE Hair Transplant Cost in Delhi, it is the abbreviated form of Follicular Unit Extraction which means extraction or harvesting. Here the donor hair is transplanted in the follicular unit of the hair. Here an instrument is used to make a small circular incision in the skin around the follicular unit. This separates it from the surrounding tissue then the unit is pulled directly from the scalp leaving open a small hole.

The process is repeated until the surgeon has succeeded in harvesting enough follicular units for hair restoration. Usually the process starts from the back under local anaesthesia with the help of micro punches and they are implanted in the bald area. Scalpel is not required in this process that is used to cut the skin for strip surgery. Remember the entire process is done by surgeons not technicians. It works well for people with small hair or for those who shave their head regularly. FUE is the only method through which adequate hair can be grown as well as extracted from the head though multiple sittings.
