With age, it is almost impossible to avoid the appearance of wrinkles. Many women try various over-the-counter creams, though fail to find the best product for wrinkles. Irritated consumers often dump all these creams and consider wrinkles to be part of their life.

Manufacturers of top anti wrinkle creams must understand that consumers cannot stay patient for years. There should be a product that does not take too much time to show visible results. There are more than one options available to those who want to prevent and fight wrinkles. Choosing the best product for wrinkles is among the number of other options.

Over-the-counter options

Even though there are enough anti-marks creams that can be easily bought from a cosmetic shop, the best product for wrinkles is still unknown to many. Reviews of Hydroxatone are extremely positive. Its user testimonials talk about how it is different from other regular age defying creams. Most women, who have used the cream, felt that they noticed a visible reduction in fine lines and wrinkles. If you start using these products before the appearance of signs of aging, then these creams can be quite helpful.

Medically prescribed anti-wrinkle creams

At a stage, when age signs are prominently visible, it is tough to find over-the-counter creams that are effective. Many women prefer to see a skin specialist for problems, such as saggy skin, dark spots, and hyperpigmentation, that come with age. Results of medically prescribed wrinkle reducing creams are much better than most cosmetic products.

Collagen injections

Collagen injections are a quick way of firming the sagging skin. It is a little more expensive, as compared to the above mentioned options. Collagen is a natural protein that keeps the skin tight and firm. The only issue is that its effects are not permanent. They are effective in augmenting the skin around lips and eyes, though results do not last long. Some people are also allergic to bovine collagen. A skin test is advised before going ahead with this option.

Botox

Botox is another temporary treatment for eliminating facial wrinkles. It works effectively on creases around the eyes, lips, and on the forehead. Results last for around six months and there are no major side effects.

Fat transfer

Autologous fat transfer is quite a complicated wrinkle reducing procedure. It involves transfer of fat from body parts, such as thighs and stomach, to wrinkled areas. Process involves liposuction, and is free of any allergic reactions. The flip side, however, remains that results are not permanent in this procedure as well.

Aging signs can just be delayed. There is no way to evade them for a long time. Considering this fact, the best product for wrinkles remains a simple anti-aging cream. It is the easiest, cheapest, and safest option to delay aging signs. It does not involve any injections, or surgeries. Its results might not be instant, though they are definitely lasting and sustainable.
