In the U.S., the leading cosmetic surgery that women opt for is breast surgery. According to the American Society of Plastic Surgery, roughly 300,000 individuals go through breast augmentation yearly. Clients of cosmetic surgery centers typically experience a boost in their confidence and a positive change on their perspective in life.

If you live in San Francisco and you are planning to go through a breast augmentation treatment, there are many plastic surgery centers and hospitals you may choose from. Once you see the plastic surgeon and institution you like, do a lot of research prior to having an in-depth discussion with the doctor. The breast implants, for instance, are an important part of breast enhancement. Here are some suggestions about how to select the right implants for you:

Figure out what â€œlookâ€• you want. Before you made a decision to opt for breast augmentation, you most likely had that image in your head on how your enhanced breasts would look like. Regardless if you want it to become like a swimsuit modelâ€™s bosom in mags or just shapely enough to look younger, you need to make certain that itâ€™s the appearance you would like to live with for many years. You would not want to spend a lot for revisions and risk lying on the operating table several times.

Accomplish the Rice Test. Several surgeons for breast augmentation Bay Area women talk to regarding implant sizes recommend doing the Rice Test. Since implant volume is measured in â€œccâ€• (cubic centimeters), the Rice Test permits you to assess how you will appear and feel with several implant sizes by inserting rice bags inside your bra. For each cup size that you want to add to your bust line, you need to use approximately 150cc to 200cc of rice.

Make use of sizing systems. If you've got extra budget for breast augmentation San Francisco private centers provide, you can request for breast sizers that are less troublesome compared with rice bags but cost much more. These sizing devices are attached to your bra through special straps and fabric tape to make sure that the simulated breast implants are in place. As opposed to rice bags, you can put them on under your clothing the whole day and feel the breasts you want prior to the surgery.

Speak with your doctor. Specialists in breast enhancement San Francisco patients believe in are open to answering concerns. Donâ€™t think twice to express your goals. Your plastic surgeon will give professional assistance if what you need can be carried out or how you can get close to your ideal breasts.
