In todayâ€™s school climate, it is important for students to be comfortable. No one works to his or her optimal potential if stuck in an uncomfortable chair for hours, or in a desk that is too high or short. Research supports this; studies have shown that students who are physically comfortable do better on standardized tests than those who are not.

That is why quality school furniture is so important. It can make a difference in student performance. Sadly, this vital component of education is lacking in many schools. Underfunded and overcrowded, many schools often struggle to find enough quality desks and chairs for their students. They resort to using old or uncomfortable furniture or borrowing desks from another grade level, desks that may be too big or too small for the student who will be sitting in it for hours at a time.

Fortunately, there is a solution to this major problem. It is called Ace Office Supply. It can help your institution solve its problems. Read below to find out why Ace is the leader in value in educational supplies.
