Most people underestimate the damage that dampness can do to metal, fabric, wood and other common materials. Ignoring this problem for a short period will not be too calamitous but on the other hand will prove to be a breeding place for in-numerous pests and insects which might affect the health of your family members and moreover diminish the market value of your beautiful property. waterproofing new york provides you the best assistance in overcoming the problem of wet basements and the associated health hazards.

Categorized in two types, the water seepage in basement happens mainly from surface or ground. Surface water is the result of rain or snow run-off which shows up as stains on top of the cellar wall which gradually comes down to the floor. Ground water comes from below as the water table builds up on the top of the surface rock, shale or other impermeable layer under your house. Basement water-proofing solutions are inexpensive and depend on the age of your home, foundation area and the kind of the repair your footer drains are in. Based on these factors, the water-proofing specialists in New York determine the type of solution required for dealing with the wet basements.

Interior basement waterproofing new york involves minimizing damage from water that cannot be cured by the foundation drainage system. Exterior water-proofing involves getting rid of the flood water before it seeps into your basement. This water-proofing work is carried out using water-proofing chemicals which are used as water-proofing agents for protecting all kinds of wall paintings from dampness and moisture along with formation of hair line cracks in cement plasters. This agent can fill the cracks, stop the corrosive activity of salt and weaken the effect of clay with environment friendly properties..
