If youâ€™re in the process of buying floors for your new home you may want to consider cork flooring. Natural cork flooring offers so many benefits and advantages over other types of flooring and they can be used in any room in the home, whether youâ€™re flooring your living room or sauna.

This type of flooring is ideal if you have young children, itâ€™s soft underfoot and very durable, it is also waterproof, which is why so many people use cork flooring in bathrooms and pool rooms. But with young children in the home you need to take the durability, softness and waterproofing into consideration.

Visually Appealing

When it comes to visual appeal, you donâ€™t get better than natural cork flooring. Itâ€™s is beautiful and compliment any room in the home with ease in the range of colours and beautiful textures available. Itâ€™s easy to clean and maintain, making it a firm favourite among many home owners.

The fact itâ€™s waterproof, mildew resistant and fire resistant is also big benefits that cannot be ignored in a family home. Due to the elasticity of the cork flooring, it can even be placed on uneven surfaces. Often to save time and money you would place the new flooring directly over old wooden or tiled floors without any hassle.

Environmentally Friendly Homes

These days everyone is trying to be as environmentally friendly as possible, more and more homes are being built green. This means that they use solar power for electricity, they use materials which donâ€™t harm the environment for their build and they use natural cork flooring, which is eco-friendly at its best.

When manufacturers make cork flooring they strip the bark from the cork oak tree without damaging the tree in any way, itâ€™s the most eco-friendly process and the manufacturing is as well, making these floors the perfect choice if youâ€™re attempting to go green.

Another factor in the go green desire is that they naturally retain heat, this means you can reduce your energy bill as you heat wonâ€™t be escaping any time soon on a cold night.

With so many shades to choose from and the beautiful textures cork flooring provides, itâ€™s easy to understand why more and more people are choosing this type of material. It adds warmth and character to any living room, it adds sophistication and style to any bathroom and it looks fantastic in hallways and bedrooms. When it comes to visual impact, natural cork flooring definitely comes out on top.

Stop Allergies in Their Tracks

If you have someone if your home allergic to dust, the cork flooring is the best option. It offers all the benefits you would get from a carpet including warmth and character, but natural cork flooring doesnâ€™t hold onto dust, itâ€™s easy to clean making it perfect for any household who suffers from allergies.
