Discover the Rice Military Neighborhood in Houston, Ideal for the Modern Family by Michael Witt

Article published on April 26th 2012 | Home

One of the most exquisite and most highly sought-after neighborhoods available in Houston is Rice Military. This beautiful Houston neighborhood gets its name from a family that once owned the area, of which one particular family member founded Rice University. The Military portion of Rice Military was borrowed from nearby Camp Logan, which was at one point a World War I training camp. Overall, Memorial Park is about 1600 acres, and it is just northwest of downtown Houston. Although it was eventually sold to Bankers Trust Company in 1910, the area has grown into a stunning subdivision, with some of the best Houston real estate available today. Although Rice Military is bordered by other neighborhoods, including Montrose, Houston Heights, River Oaks, Timber Grove and Memorial Park, it is still an extraordinary neighborhood to live in.

Bordered on the north side by Washington Avenue, and Memorial Drive at the South, Rice Military is also bordered on the east and west side by Shepherd Drive and Westcott Street, respectively. This neighborhood is also part of the seventh Congressional District of Texas, and is completely encompassed by zip code 77007. Anyone is looking for Houston real estate is encouraged to take advantage of the extraordinary neighborhood that is Rice Military today. It is an upper-middle-class neighborhood in Houston, and anyone who is looking to buy their first home will truly enjoy the atmosphere, vibrance, beauty and security that this community provides. No matter what your tastes, Rice Military is located centrally to the bustling nightlife downtown Houston, as well as many other provisions within the community for many different activities.

This can include hiking, biking, softball, volleyball, swimming and more. This real estate opportunity provides an extensive number of town houses and condominiums, so you have your choice of the type of home you want to live in, as well as extraordinary space and garage areas as well. Rice Military continues to grow, and the trends and provides available in the neighborhood that began in the early 1990s, is showcasing Rice Military as one of the most innovative, beautiful and valuable Houston real estate available today. Extensive opportunities available in Houston and this stunning neighborhood, is attracting more people from around the world to make Rice Military their home. With town houses and condominiums in the area, they are all modern, and generally, property values range between $200,000 to over $600,000.

With this broad range of prices for a whole and Rice Military, you are sure to find the ideal home for you and your family. Regardless of whether you are just starting out, or your family is expanding and you need more room to grow, Rice Military is an incredible neighborhood within Houston's inner loop.
