King size bed is the biggest type of bed. When you go for a shopping, you may get confused of what bed you really want for your home. That is why it is good to know the king size bed measurements so that you will not have a hard time in choosing the best bed for you. The two types of king size beds are standard king and California king bed. If you are going to buy king size beds you will have a great space for you and for the person you are sleeping with. Approximately the size of a king bed is equivalent to two twin beds connected together.

King size bed measurements differ in length and how wide the bed is. Basically standard king bed is four inches wider than the California king bed however California king bed is four inch longer. Standard king bed is also called as Eastern king bed. It is wider than the Queen size bed for about 16 inches but with the same length. The overall dimension of standard king bed is 76 inches width by 80 inches long which gives a person with 38 inches each. The advantage of having this type of bed is that it will give you the widest bed available in the market. When buying sheets for the standard king size bed, you do not have to make so much effort because any sheet that is labeled as king size sheet will be suitable for your bed. The negative part of having a standard king size bed is that its width will give you difficulty in transferring especially in hallways and small spaces. This is not advisable for people who have a space related problems. Bed sheets for king size bed, whatever type it is will cost more than other sheets for ordinary bed. Another would be it will not give the best comfort to tall people.

The best king size bed measurements for tall people are California King bed or Western king bed. Compared to the eastern type, this bed is only 12 inches wider than queen size beds but is four more inches longer than standard king size bed. This is the longest bed in the market and is best for tall people. The overall dimension of the western king bed is 72 inches wide by 84 inches long that gives each person 36 inches of space. The advantage of California king bed is that it gives two people to sleep comfortably. The disadvantages of this bed would include the struggle in moving the bed especially in places like stairs and small bedrooms. You cannot use an alternative sheet for this bed because of its length. In this type of beds, whether it is a standard or California bed the bed sheets should be exact with the king size bed measurements.
