Article published on April 28th 2012 | Home

One of the most popular materials which are being used these days is travertine. Actually, it is a kind of limestone, also known as calcium carbonate in technical terms. Because this material is being created while dissolving of materials takes place, therefore travertine floor tile is said to be a natural material. In Turkey and Italy, travertine floor tile has been used for more than thousand years and now it is becoming popular in all the countries for various purposes such as backsplashes, patios, flooring and countertops. Today, it is commonly used as patio pavers.

Travertine floor tile can be available in various colors as well as styles. It can be available in reddish brown, beige and gold form. Also, it may be available in various styles such as tumbled, brushed, polished and matte. The polished travertine floor tile appears to be like a marble and the tumbled travertine floor tile gives more antiqued appearance. It is very easy to shape the travertine floor tile in favored design and so, it can be used for creating patio pavers with aesthetic appeal. Definitely, the travertine floor tile is very easy to give a desired shape. It can be therefore used for creating your own modern art in almost any place of your home. Great interior designs or masterpieces using the travertine floor tiles can be created, especially if you make use of different colors of this tile. Also, in case you are creating the patio pavers, you can fill the voids using the smaller carved pieces of the travertine floor tile.

Because travertine is being created by the natural process and belongs to the family of limestone, therefore the travertine floor tile is more environment friendly. It belongs to the class of sedimentary stones and therefore even installation of travertine floor tile is easier, especially in comparison to marble or granite. It can be shaped easily, cut easily, installed easily and most of all, costs less than others of its class. The travertine floor tile can be used to yield stunning results in flooring or patio pavers. Because of wide availability of textures as well as colors, travertine fits the modern dÃ©cor and offers aesthetic appeal. Also, replacing the travertine floor tile is not difficult. Therefore, if you damage the tile, you can easily replace it with other matching tile.

Without a doubt, travertine floor tile can add aesthetic appeal and charm to your home interiors as well as patio pavers in the backyard or garden areas. It also remains durable for a longer time and the best part is that today; these tiles are also commonly used in bathrooms as well as kitchens, especially for the counter tops. Various textures as well as colors available in travertine floor tile can help you to create masterpieces for patio pavers and it indeed can give a very artistic appeal to your dÃ©cor.

Installation of travertine floor tile should be done by the professionals only in order to get the desired and fruitful results.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/home-articles/travertine-floor-tile-for-adding-aesthetic-appeal.htm - Article Side

Ashish Pandey - About Author:
Availability of a travertine floor tile in variety of textures and colors make it absolutely aesthetic. These tiles can be used for a patio pavers as well.

Article Keywords:
travertine floor tile, patio pavers

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!