Most people in the US are fascinated by oak flooring because it is not only elegant in appearance but its standard is perpetual among the people for many years. Not only it lasts long and strong but often are very locally grown trees. If youâ€™re looking for a flooring choice for your business or residential premises, oak doors and floors are considered the best. Want to know how? Investing in oak floors has a lot of advantages.

The amount you spend will be less and there is no artificial color. Also you have choices of more colors of wood and you can freely select yourself. Oak flooring is energy saving that it guards the rooms from over sunlight, humidity and electricity. It has the peculiar character of keeping both winter and summer alike. When we compare to carpeting and other method of flooring, oak flooring is cheap and less expensive. It is also very natural since there is no mixture of any chemical and artificial items.

There are two types called red oak and white oak in which strength and lasting are predominantly considered. Its hardness and density gives a better resisting capacity to the oak floors to bear the heat and humidity. Nowadays people give more importance to appearance. The red and white oak definitely fulfill the wishes of the owners.

Unlike other woods, red and white oak will not shrink or expand during its transportation or installation. If it is so, the percentage of shrinkage and expansion will be very meager compared to other hard woods. Both the types of oak woods need the same amount of maintenance. Regular swap and mop will enhance for good looking and get back its original glory.

In both red and white oak, people have great choices to choose from in order to increase the value of their home. Even though both the flooring is genuine and of high quality, definitely there is a concern for its care and maintenance. There are many ways to protect the oak flooring because everything spent in this field is an investment. So it is very important to take some efforts to preserve its quality properly.

Never forget to wipe away the spillages and donâ€™t allow remaining it for long time. Care must be taken where you move other heavy items to avoid scratches. Better avoid using high heel shoes while walking on floor so that there will be no marks on floor.

For people who think of rich look and durability, red and white oak are the best choices. Also if youâ€™re looking for a good hard wood floor and you are not in a position to spend much, then oak flooring in an attractive and interesting choice.
