suggesting large number of doctors suggest to avoid the common swimming pools as these pools can possibly be a prime cause for a good number of recent health issues that have been troubling many people. Certain chemicals have particularly been under scrutiny and in this short article; we are going to elaborate on this subject.

Most of the researchers around the world are fairly concerned regarding the abundant presence of chlorine in both salt and chlorinated water pools. Now, Chlorine is one such chemical which is known to be highly poisonous in its gaseous state but very few people are aware of the dangers associated with its liquid form as well. Therefore, despite having the best pool filters, presence of chlorine is set to lead to multiple problems in human body.

Let us focus a bit more on the harmful effects of chlorine chemical; on coming in direct contact with certain organic matters like skin, oil, hair etc a molecular structure named Organochloride is chemically formed. One common type of such Organochlorides is a chemical Trihalomethane (THM) which is reckoned to have a cancer causing agent.

An impounding danger with THM is that it is present in large volumes not only inside the chlorinated pools but also have a fair presence in air around the swimming pools. Therefore, they can easily enter our respiratory tracks and lead to severe ailments later. Apart from deadly diseases like Cancer, THM is also known to be a major cause and source of aggravation of Asthma particularly in adults.

Finally, coming to the possible solutions of this threat, the best bet is to eliminate the use of chlorinated water and make use of pool sanitizers to purify the water through a scientifically developed sanitation system. This method is also technologically equipped to remove all forms of impurity and bacteria from water without leaving any side effect.
