Wars, natural disasters, droughts, famines and all sorts of general calamities are predictions of What is the Second Coming. All of these portents are merely a prelude to the second coming of Christ but they are not signals of the end of the world, they are only signals of the second coming and How Evangelic Christians will be saved. The apocalyptic sense of upheaval commonly experienced today, through successive waves of panic, trauma and menace - combined with the instantaneous of communications - has left human consciousness in a pre-tense state of anticipation, where can you see Jesus Christ. What is the Second Coming - or of the arrival of the Antichrist.

The awareness to know god lies within.

The global or cosmic context is given by the gospel of John. There are two very important indicators of the conditions for recognition here. First, is often depicted in which Jesus tells his disciples that one of them will betray him. Who is it? The question of identity is in the minds of the disciples. Although Jesus tells his actions, the disciples are unable to understand. At that time, "Satan entered into Judas, who then leaves the room. The second question concerns the recognition of the divinity of Christ. The disciple Philip says: "Lord, show us the Father and it sufficeth us." Jesus answers with a question: "Have I been with you for so long and have not recognized? He gently rebuked for not seeing that the Father is in him. Thus, in the context of a sequence essential to understand are two questions of recognition that is to recognize the divine is, of course, much greater. The other, in connection with the traitor, Judas ends up slipping into the night, which has an evil intention. In both cases, the disciples are not awake enough to make the identification.

The gospel clearly says about the god.

In the Gospel of Christ makes it clear that the principle of recognition is a matter of conscience, of being awake. The recognition of the divine is a new awareness or greater. The decision to betray or oppose is necessary awareness and openness to the demonic. The demonic requires physical input. The divine implies an acceptance of non-physical element itself. The second coming is an overwhelming inner sense of the way forward, the validity of the existence and permanence of the inner self. Those things are the response to trauma and panic of our time. The light of the world is present in us and around us threatening, dark shadow, is also stalking the land, calling himself the physical manifestation. The brighter the light shines, the more difficult becomes the shade until you are there - walking among. Once again it is a matter of recognition: Satan went out the door with Judas, but he returns in his own way.
