The Big Island of Hawaii offers some of the nicest home sites anywhere. From sunny coastal properties with sparkling blue ocean vistas, to breezy and cool uplands, to lush forests and grasslands, the varied terrain of Hawaii's Big Island gives you many new home construction possibilities. A package home or custom home by Big Island Home Builders Inc. lets you incorporate many dramatic natural elements into your site and home design that can make your residence functional and comfortable, as well as aesthetically pleasing.

Build your Dream Home on the Big Island of Hawaii

Hawaii is one of the world's most popular vacation destinations. People come to enjoy its fabulous beaches, beautiful ocean and dramatic mountain scenery, its history and culture and its friendly, welcoming people. Along with this, the warm and agreeable climate makes for a casual and relaxed lifestyle and outdoor recreation opportunities year-round. It's a place where almost anyone would like to live – and more than a few visitors have returned to make Hawaii their permanent home.

Whether you are a full-time Island resident or frequent visitor to Hawaii, there comes a time when almost everyone seriously considers building a home here. And why not? It hardly gets better than having your own home in Paradise! This could be a simple entry-level, island-style package home in Kona or a luxurious custom built home on a dramatic mountainside view lot that you've been thinking about for years. Whatever your new home building idea, Big Island Home Builders understands that turning that dream into reality should be an enjoyable and exciting process, one which ensures you get what you want at the price you expected to pay.

Finding the Right Contractor for Your Home Building Project

A home is usually by far the largest purchase you will make in your lifetime. And building a new custom home or even a package home is also one of the most personal projects you will ever be involved in, one that reflects your personality, tastes and preferences. So, you will want to talk to a number of custom home builders in Kona to learn about their background and experience, how they work, the value they provide and their references. In the end, however, you will want to find a new home builder who provides three things: Integrity, Quality and Professionalism and that is Big Island Home Builders.
