Food is a really important part of our lives. Through food one can express oneself in the most unique ways possible. One can create new dishes by experimentation. The food one makes stands for oneâ€™s way of thinking, oneâ€™s idea of balance, oneâ€™s idea of harmony and oneâ€™s idea of t thus becomes a product and expression thatâ€™s extremely personal.

The food one makes is also determined by the way one cooks. The ways of cooking are many. And the recipes that one adopts depend on the resources one has at oneâ€™s disposal in the kitchen space. The resources constitute how a kitchen space is going to look. A kitchen space, therefore, indirectly affects the kind of food that one makes. The effect of a kitchen space would either be positive or negative on the kind of food one makes. In order to facilitate a positive effect of the kitchen space one needs to make sure that the kitchen area is well-equipped and comfortable. How is that possible? Well, there are certain ways in which one can ensure a kitchen space thatâ€™s comfortable to work around in and is a delight to cook in!

One needs to, first and foremost, make sure that the kitchen space looks beautiful and pleasant. The kitchen space needs to be colorful. It need not be a mish-mash of several colors but it needs to have a fine balance of different colors that blend together and complement each other. The gloss laminate colors, the wall colors, the colors of the curtains, the colors of crockery etc.- all of it must look like a whole and shouldnâ€™t look as if it is a dish of different colors piled up together.

Apart from the external dÃ©cor of the kitchen which include the wall colors and the laminate colors etc., one needs to ensure that the kitchen space is clutter free and is neat. Neatness makes for a very desirable condition for working. One needs to make sure that kitchen space is hygienic and does not feel stale. The space has to be rid of all thatâ€™s old and all thatâ€™s unusable- the old utensils the old equipment etc. If your fridge is in the kitchen too, you need to make sure it is clean at all times.

Enjoy working in a clean kitchen with clean laminate sheets, clutter free and well-equipped cooking space! Cook and have fun!
