Article published on February 10th 2012 | Home Improvement

Commercial plazas are constructed with detailed planning. The budget is set as per investor purchases and time limit is set as per calculated time taken to construct a building properly. Some margins are kept in budget and time to tackle unwanted expenses and unwanted delays. Any building, be it residential or commercial needs proper furnishing including flooring, walling roofing and exterior furnishing.

Exterior furnishing should be quite attractive in commercial plazas to attract the visitors and occupants. The exterior of the buildings consists of driveways, patios, verandahs and more. Exterior walls also need proper furnishing that are long lasting and have proper finish. Walling with natural stone tiles is easy and looks absolutely magnificent. The operation cost is also low as natural stone walling is almost maintenance free. Walling should be done through professional hands as there are chances of stone tiles coming out and leaving their space in case of gap or unprofessional tile installation. Take care to stock at least ten percent more to enable easy fixing in case of damages.

The outside area can be decorated with circles of slate. Large circles extending to a few meters in size are installed to accentuate the aura of the place and telecast beauty. These circles can be surrounded with greens or with natural stone tiles to magnify grandeur.

Verandahs are stretched with heavy footsteps all the day. This means there should be proper sealing of tiles so that these donâ€™t come out even after heavy footfall. Rusty colored Slate paving is good for verandahs and it is quite welcoming for everyone entering the building. What more do you want than a warm welcome on a cold wintery night. Earthy colors blend well the atmosphere are do not pinch the eyes.

Black is the color of elegance and this is the reason that this sophisticate color is worn in parties and ceremonies. Driveways are better done with black slate paving slabs. These are large and add elegance and grandeur. Big slate paving slabs give a unique expression to the people passing by and those who drive their two wheelers and four wheelers inside the boundaries. Driveways should be installed with great expertise as these are heavily trafficked areas and need strong slate paving. Proper planning and procurement of quality material from reliable stone seller is a must to portray proper effects. Slate paving is easy and durable when done properly.
