Five Ways to Keep your Guest Powder Room Clean and Organized by Caldmore Harris

Article published on August 24th 2012 | Home Improvement

Having enough room in your house to have guests over to stay is a great amenity to have. You always feel bad when friends are coming through town and you end up having to put them up on the couch. Having company is wonderful when it is good friends or family members, but you want them to have their own space and to feel comfortable.

So if you have not only a spare room, but also a spare bathroom, you can bet that your place will definitely be a favorite stop for traveling friends.

But just like your bathroom, a guest powder room needs the right solutions to make it clean and organized as well. You know how it feels to go to someone elseâ€™s house and not want to make a mess. Well, a bathroom without the right home organization solutions is hard to keep clean for anybody.

Thatâ€™s right, you need the same home organizers in your guest bathroom that you have in your main bathroom. Here are five ways that you can keep your guest bathroom clean and organized. Now all of your houseguests can feel perfectly at home during their stay.

12 Foot Chrome Corner Shower Caddy

In any bathroom with a shower, a shower caddy is an essential item to have. For a really special treat, you can even have brand new soaps, shampoos, body washes, and more available for when your guests arrive. This is perfect for if they happened to forget something.

This shower caddy can reach to up to 12 feet tall, making it perfect for newer homes with high ceilings. It has four separate wire baskets so there is more than enough room for any and all bath items that your guests might bring. It even has a rack for a cloth and a hook for a sponge.

Towel Valet

Just as important as having a place for your guests to put all of their bath and shower necessities is having a place so that they can hang their towel out to dry. Nobody wants to just have wet towels hanging over the dirty shower curtain rod or over the back of the door so you canâ€™t shut it right.

The towel valet has enough room for two normal-sized bath towels, as well as two regular hand towels. It has a sensibly weighted base so that even if you put a wet and heavy towel on it wonâ€™t get knocked over. The best part is that unlike racks for the wall you donâ€™t have to install this. Just set it right up and you are good to go.

Side Tank 4 Roll Holder

Making sure that your guests have all of the necessary amenities is key to being a good host. That means you have to have just about everything ready for them, just in case they forgot something. Their bed should be made with fresh linens and plenty of pillows, you should have extra towels ready, and you absolutely need to make sure that your guest bathroom is stocked with toilet paper.

This convenient holder hooks right over the edge of your tank, and is held down by the top of the lid. It is a great way to keep four extra rolls right on hand. It conveniently keeps extra rolls out of the way, organized, dry, and available at a moments notice. This is a perfect organizer for not just the guest bathroom, but really any bathroom in your house.

Over Toilet Spacesaver

Another key ingredient to cultivating a warm atmosphere for your guests is livening up the place. A spare bathroom can feel open and empty when it isnâ€™t filled with bath supplies and towels and things. That is why you might consider an over toilet spacesaver for your guest bathroom.

This item is perfect for putting little knick knacks, framed photos, and other decorative items on. Since the bathroom will go unused most of the time, you wonâ€™t need that space for actual bath supplies, but it is a nice treat for a guest to use the bathroom and notice some lovely dÃ©cor.

Hinge-It Spacemaker Handy Hook â€“ White

While these are all great ways to keep your guest powder room clean and organized, this last item may seem small, but it can make a big difference. Have you ever taken a shower at someoneâ€™s house and had nowhere to hang your clean clothes for when you get out? You want to get changed right in the bathroom, but where do you put your things?

These handy hooks slide right onto the hinges of your door, swinging independently of the door itself. This strong and durable hook is a clever and easy way to save a little bit of space in your bathroom.

With these handy bathroom solutions, all of your houseguests will be clamoring to come back for another visit.
