Home makeover is one of the best ways to beautify your home. A complete home makeover includes painting each room of the home with beautiful colors, replacing the dull tiles with the latest floorings, hanging attractive curtains with lovely colors and design, replacing the old furniture with new ones etc.

When it comes to painting, you can go for different colors for different rooms. Bright colors would be apt for the bedrooms; thick colors for the living room would be a good option to embellish your house. Replacing the old furniture with new ones would give a new look to your house. Of course, some of the items that you can have on the top of the replaceable are the chairs, dining table, TV stand etc. Flooring is something that requires detailed research and you can see the latest types of flooring and compare their prices and narrow down your options and choose the best one available. Another important element of home makeover is the curtains. I would say, this is something that most people don't pay attention to. However, curtains are among the most notable things in our house and they have the knack of grabbing the attention of anybody who walks in. Although there are several types such as the Box pleated, Cased type, Eyelet type, and Goblet type, one type of curtain I would certainly go with is the Net curtain. They are among the most attractive curtains that can give a stylish touch to the surroundings. The blackout net curtain is an innovative type of curtain that goes well with any kind of painting and design in home and office.

The specialty of the blackout net curtains is that they are powered by multi-layered thick fabric materials and are little heavier than the normal curtains. But, if you wonder what's so special about the blackout net curtains, I would say that besides used for decorative and privacy purposes, the blackout net curtains serve the function of preventing dust, dirt and bugs from entering your room, and most importantly they reduce the intensity of the incoming sunlight to a great extent. This is can be a breather for people who work in night shifts because these curtains provide a good sleeping environment, even on a bright sunny day.

For folks who like to enjoy the home theatre experience, the blackout net curtain helps to block the incoming sunlight and keeps the room as dark as possible thus eliminating the glare on your TV screen. It also helps to reduce the outside interference by at least 30%. Thus, you can just forget the outside world and get the theatre experience sitting and watching TV right at the confines of your home.

The blackout curtains are extensively used in all major places like hospitals, laboratories, photo studios etc. They also serve as insulating materials which is an additional bonus of the elegant curtains. These days, fire resistant blackout curtains are also available on the market. The blackout net curtains also help to conserve energy. During summer, when you switch on the air conditioners there is a possibility of wastage of cool air that escapes through the windows due to lack of insulators. The blackout net curtains act as insulators and reduce the wastage of cool air and save a lot of energy. In the winter, when you turn off the heaters there is a possibility that the heat may get dissipated quickly. But, the blackout curtain retains the heat and keeps the room warm for quite some time ultimately saving a lot of energy. So your air conditioners and heaters need not be turned on all the time anymore.

While installing your net curtains, make sure that the length and width of the curtain is big enough to cover the entire window so that even a minute gap is neatly covered up to minimize the intensity of the incoming light. During the summer months, make sure that the curtains are always closed. And, keep the curtains open in the winter season even if the sun is shining because it helps to keep the room warmer.

Since the blackout net curtains are heavier than your normal curtains their maintenance would be a small problem as they can be difficult to wash. The blackout net curtains might also be little expensive when compared to the normal curtains but given the fact that they are much more beneficial and long lasting. So, going for a blackout net curtain would be a nice way to pep up the rooms of your home.
