Hotels are constructed to attract tourists, make them prolong their stay, make them return and visit again and refer the hotels facilities and grandeur to their friends and relations. However, hotel constructions have become so dear that everyone canâ€™t afford to give luxurious appeal at low cost furnishing. Here comes the limestone flooring into use.

Hotel architecture done in limestone is beautiful and full of radiance. The cheaper marble counterpart depicts the same aura and style as marble stone enabling hotel administration to display grandeur.

Floorings:

Interior floorings in white colored limestone can be used as this is cheaper and much beautiful option. Interiors display magnificence as limestone flooring done properly in white resembles marble and guests will also perceive it as fresh marble flooring. However one has to spend lot of extra time in maintaining these floors along with their shine.

Exterior floors look extremely extravagant when done in white or red limestone. Some people do it by choice as these cost much less and display same appeal.

Exteriors of the hotel are as important as interiors and these should be done with care and wisdom to make it a look alike of marble furnishings. Some people love to see grandeur all around them and are never willing to shell out the expenses of a five-star hotel. Then they can experience the grandeur and aura of a lifestyle hotel from budgeted hotels.

Such options keep the hotel person and the visitors happy as they both get what thy want the most with little spending.

Walling

Walling is an integral part of hotels. Feature walls with walling tiles give a meaning and center of attraction to the entrance. Large feature walls can be decorated in the coffee shop, in dining area and of course the entrance with different colored valuable and authentic natural stone. Walling exudes aura and is worthy of praises.

Steps and Stairs

Depicting natural theme is a costly option but with limestone it is not so. You can remain rooted to natural elements and create mesmerizing effects with ease. The only problem is its maintenance. This can be taken care-off by applying sealant, regularly and maintaining vigor and versatility.

The non-absorbing floors can be used easily as it is free from absorbing any oil or grease or other unwanted material. However, periodic sealant application is a must to enhance the life-expectancy of flooring.

Steps and stairs are available in limestone in various colors. Hoteliers can select the right colored natural stone as per choice and what sells most in the market. The natural stone used in stairs an steps should be of high quality and treated properly so that there is no discrepancy.

Installation should be done through professionals who can match the tiles with borders and make beautiful patterns at reasonable pricing. This way the life-expectancy of the limestone flooring is increased tremendously and the aura never fades, even in case of high foot-fall. Such hotels are bound to attract more customers, give freedom to move around and carry home beautiful memories.
