How to Make an Idiosyncratic Artificial Bear-Rug for your Infant?

by Andrea Collins

Article published on April 7th 2012 | Home Improvement

Hide skin or beer skin rugs are extremely wonderful piece of art that are being popular since from the olden times. The soft and soothing surface of these rugs adds comfort and coziness to the entire room where they are placed.

But now-a-days these particular rugs are hard to exist. Furthermore, many people are eager to take a more caring method to deal with animals but have shied away from animal skin rugs. For the Bear-Rug lovers there are still chances of getting these eccentric by artificial approach.

Are you marveling how on the earth is that possible?? With the help of the stuffed bear of your infant you can make an eccentric Artificial Bear-Rug and enjoy its softness for years. Your baby would also love to curdle upon the Artificial Bear-Rug if you simply place them on the bed where your baby is napping.

Easy steps of making Artificial Bear-Rug:-

â€¢ Separate your teddy bear by ripping out the threads that are visible at the line of stitching.

â€¢ Remember that you are not destroying the hide but simply removing the inside stuff so that the bear lies flatly on the floor.  The materials seen on the front of the teddy bear should be cut or severed off.

â€¢ Take a clear pattern paper and place the teddy bear flatly on it and observe that it appears like bear rug.

â€¢ Now draw the outline of the bear leaving the head and fudge them a bit, correct the infections if any.  After this, the cut the head of the bear and leave two inches behind the tips of the bears head and enlarge them from all the sides.

â€¢ Pin all the fur, felt material and the patterns altogether by following the pattern made, trace the outline of the bear onto the material of the fur.

â€¢ Cut them properly so that you get the pattern of two different bears of which one is made from the felt and another from the fur.

â€¢ Stick the felt into the artificial fur and allow them to dry completely.

â€¢ Further, stitch the entire glued material by three to four inches outer and inside edge of the material so that they get merged.

â€¢ Now you can stick the head of the teddy bear into the rug you have made and then after drying sew them accurately. Strengthen the seam from both the sides so that the attachment is done properly. The claws of the bear can also be sewed in the same manner into the feet of the Artificial Bear-Rug.

Article Source:

http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/how-to-make-an-idiosyncratic-artificial-bear-rug-for-your-infant.htm - Article Side

Andrea Collins - About Author:
Andrea Collins is a graduate from New York, USA working as an Content Writer for Rugsandblinds.com and has written articles on a Custom rugs, a Black Rugs and many more.

Article Keywords:
Bear Rug

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!