Well, it does not matter whether you are building a new house or renovating an old one. In both the cases a tile plays an important role in the process of accomplishing your dream house. Your home is a personal space for you, where you can let your creative juices flow in order to give you the ideas and to design your dream home.

Choosing right kind of tiles can put you in dilemma, so before selecting a tile, you must know about where you will use it according to your specific need and under which climatic conditions. According to your specific needs there are wide varieties of tiles available.

Suppose you want to go for a floor design in your home.

â€¢ Calculate the area for the proposed flooring and select a design.

â€¢ Use big tiles as they can be laid of easily and will minimize the labor cost.

â€¢ Big floor tiles will give a grand look.

â€¢ Select color accordingly, light and dark both colors can give wonderful appearance.

â€¢ Design should suit to your home environment.

Ceramic, granite, mosaic, sandstone, and vitrified tiles can give a wonderful look to your floor appearance. You will find many designs in ceramic range like ornate, artistic, check board, square, rectangle, triangle, circles and fusion geometric etc.

If, you wish to use granite flooring for you home you can choose from a number of designs and colors available for tiles in India. They can be pink to grey. It is a natural high quality stone widely used in designing; they vary in color as per their mineralogy. These stones are durable and after polishing they becomes extremely beautiful. Thus the consistency and quality of the tiles can be preserved. Nowadays, with the rise in construction, manufacturers are producing quality tiles in India and offering them at competitive prices.

We know that wooden flooring is the best but maintaining this kind of flooring requires a lot of energy and care. That is why people make flooring using vitrified tiles and get a substitute for hardwood flooring. Manufacturers are using 40% clay and 60% silica to make vitrified tiles. By passing through this vitrifying process, tiles become hard and non-porous, so the vitrified tiles provide an added advantage over natural tiles. They are non abrasive and do not require any kind of maintenance. While designing them they use soluble salts to make design on tiles and penetrate the design up to 3mm into the tile. By vitrifying process they make tile stain proof and water resistant. You can enjoy and make fun by printing your desired pictures on them with the use of digital printing. You can choose your own designs like flowers and customized colors.

By this you will make visitors go in a state of fix and surprise them to the utmost level. By the time a visitor will enter your home he will find something unusual and unique. Tiles are ornaments of the home and we care special care while selecting our ornaments why to sideline our home. Manufacturers are offering wide variety of tiles in India to select from.
