One of the most popular pieces of furniture bought for homes over the last couple of decades has to be the divan. Basically consisting of a wooden box frame, with drawers in the base, it has proved to be a practical and attractive choice for many people across the UK. However, for those that would like to be a little different there are many other options on the market. Brass bedsteads can look great in period properties and for homes with a contemporary dÃ©cor, items made from wood and upholstered in soft cowhide are a good choice.

There are a number of European designers that are creating innovative bedroom furniture at the moment and many of these designs can be purchased through online stockists, putting them within reach of most consumersâ€™ pockets. Pieces with hidden legs that look like they are floating above the floor compete with more traditional designs that feature padded headboards and a divan base. For a blend of style, comfort and practicality, it is well worth considering the range of leather beds on offer. These can be found both online and in high street stores so they are relatively easy to buy whatever your shopping preferences.

Some people are worried that furniture upholstered with cowhide will not last very long but as long as it is of a reasonable quality it should be able to withstand the wear and tear it is subjected to on a daily basis. It is also easier to wipe clean after spillages than many other fabrics, a quality that makes it attractive for parents with young children that like to bring their drinks into the bedroom.

Most bases do not come with a mattress so you need to think about how much you want to spend in total and subtract the cost of the mattress before looking for units that are within your price range. Nowadays, it is easy to compare prices online and most companies are happy to deliver to mainland UK addresses. Some of them also have a chain of physical stores spread around the country, for those who wish to try before they buy. Those without any high street stores usually offer a no hassle money-back guarantee so there is no need to worry about being stuck with something you do not want when ordering online.
