It is no new fact that 80 percent of the diseases on earth are water borne. Buying the wrong and cheap purifiers will only make you victims of the same. You will end up spending many times more than what you have saved and spent. Moreover, you may have to make repeat complaints to the customer care executives. An RO system usually costs more than UF or storage systems. This is because of the sophisticated purification mechanism incorporated. What you buy should reduce TDS (total dissolved solids) levels to acceptable standards, eliminate the toughest of new age contaminants and disease-causing micro organisms. Every drop of water that flows from the faucet should be 100 percent pure. This is where Eureka Forbes RO purifier comes into play. No other purifiers compete the ground breaking technologies incorporated in the Eureka Forbes RO system series.

Eureka Forbes India witnessed nascence in the year 1982. The thirty years of market presence is marked by many milestones and achievements. Innovation and superlative quality mark all of its products and the Eureka Forbes RO system is no exception. The dominant market rapport generated since inception is maintained still. Over 30 million people use Eureka Forbes India products with water purifiers constituting eight million plus. So, you can well imagine the reputation of the company. The count of users for Eureka Forbes India products is only increasing by the day.

Over time, Eureka Forbes India has won numerous coveted international awards. The latest awards won worth mentioning are 5 Prestigious UNESCO Water Digest Awards 2010-11, Frost & Sullivan Award, and more. You can know more about the awards, complete product range, and more at eurekaforbes.com. Eureka Forbes India runs one of the largest networks (15,000 dealer sales and 58+ distributor industrial sales) catering to more than 145 cities and 398 towns across India. The products are available both via direct sales and at organized retail outlets and home appliance stores the difference noticed being in brand names.

When it comes to offering customer care services, the company stays one step ahead. No matter when you dial the Eureka Forbes customer care number, you will always get a prompt and courteous response. You will never complain about the phone hanging or busy or not being able to talk to the executive. It is quite natural for few to harbor wrath and complain impolitely about the products they are using. Eureka Forbes customer care executives are trained to respond to every customer politely and solve each query irrespective of whether it is an inquiry or a demo request or after sales service request, and the like.

If you want to buy a Eureka Forbes RO system under the AquaSure brand, you will come across three options - AquaSure Spring fresh DX, AquaSure Elegant RO, AquaSure Nano RO, each the best, making you fall in a dilemma which one to choose. Dial the Eureka Forbes customer care number to know about each system or visit eurekaforbes.com to view description, features, and specifications.
