Things have to know about Painter Quotes by Abdul Hai

Article published on August 17th 2012 | Home Improvement

Sometimes you may require refurbishing your home due to years of use or after moving into a new home. The first idea that may come up in your mind would be get to the nearest paint store and buy paint of the color you like and try to paint the house by yourself. You might be thinking about your previous experience that how much time it takes to do this job. You may have to spend several hours or days to finish the paint job. In case of small children, the painting business becomes a nightmare and sooner you conclude that a professional painter should be called.

Now the question is where to start? Who is the right person to hire? What is the criterion to select a painter? Below are some useful tips to ensure the most accurate painter quotes.

Painter Quotes

Initially, contacting multiple professional painters is a safe approach to have more options. Referrals are always beneficial either from friends or family as they will hide fewer things from you about the work. After receiving various quotes from painters, first of all remove the high price quotes and the cheaper quotes because generally the expensive ones overcharge the new clients as they find them inexperienced and too much low price painters underestimate the cost and thus you may find yourself at risk due to hidden prices.

On receiving the quotes analyze the cost details from large to small things especially of labor and material. Check for any prior work before painting such as filling holes, undercoats, sanding and if any wallpaper needs to be removed. Ensure the number of coats they actually want to do while painting. Typically a rule of thumb applies and that is 2 coats and maybe a primer if required. Keep a close eye over the brand and quality of the paint they are planning to use as the final result is totally dependent on this factor. Finally, consider the total time frame seriously in the painter quotes which one is offering reasonable time frame.

The Quality of Paint

Not only the quality of professional work counts but also the quality of raw material such as the paint quality is also equally vital. If you are just hiring a painter for professional paint service then never cut the cost of your paint instead get the best quality paint possible within your budget. This is because genuine quality paint last for years.

Ask Questions from Painters

Donâ€™t hesitate to ask any question from painters. It is your painterâ€™s responsibility to answer your questions and take it as part of collaboration and with maximum cooperation the results will be happy.
