Tips on Decorating home with Foscarini lighting by Valentine De Roover

Article published on March 27th 2012 | Home Improvement

Home lighting depends on your individual tastes and styles. From modern to traditional styles, you can choose from various styles to suit your home dÃ©cor. One of the most popular lighting is the Italian lighting styles. Italian lighting styles are really mesmerizing. They help to transform your home according to your tastes and moods. The styles are mostly influenced by the Art Deco period and the Italian Renaissance. Many lighting pieces from the island of Murano are still exhibited in the museums. For modern styles of lighting, Foscarini is a name to reckon with. Homes with traditional dÃ©cor can choose several antique lighting fixtures to suit the style.

Rustic Tuscan lighting

If you wish to provide a casual ambiance to your living space, the Tuscan influenced lighting is the best. The lighting consists of fixtures that have a touch of classics. They match well with terracotta lines, colorful linen and wooden floors. For creating a focal point in your dining room, add chandeliers made of black wrought iron just above the dining table. Sconces made of wrought iron help you to create subtle lighting in recessed corners and dark hallways. If you want to add some shine to the overall lighting, use gold Tuscan fixtures as well.

Modern lighting

Most of the home owners wish to add a modern ambiance to their homes. One of the most popular modern designers in home lighting is Foscarini. The style is greatly influenced by sleek and metallic lines. Foscarini is famous for various styles such as wood, glass, textured glass, aluminum and Kevlar. Different geometrical shapes are used to create clean and strong lines. These are clearly visible in the designs used. Bold and bright colors are also used for creating a special ambiance and energy. Decorative chandeliers made of glass tiles and pendant lighting with metal shades are used for creating a special visual impact.

Murano glass lighting

If you wish to have a contemporary look in your home, use the Foscarini Tri-p. These fixtures are equal to none. Most of the fixtures are special and display modern and clean lines. Different colors and varieties of glass lighting fixtures are used. There are elaborate chandeliers and ceiling fixtures. Apart from that you can even choose from simple accent lighting, table lamps etc with Foscarini Caboche. Murano glass is made using traditional glass blowing techniques. Gold and glass powder is used for creating special art works on the fixtures.
