Article Side
Role of wedding Speeches by Webmaster

Article published on December 18th 2011 | Humanities

Wedding is an occasion where all near and dear of the newly wedded couple gather to celebrate their happiness and to congratulate them for their happy future. Wedding speeches are an important part of weddings today. These are not just formalities but to bring about the happiest and wonderful insight to the bride and grooms and the bond which has been just established.

Every wedding has three primary speeches given by father of the bride, the groom and the best man. The father of the bride talks about his daughterâ€™s childhood, her character, her accomplishments etc. He thanks everyone present there for attending his daughterâ€™s wedding and then talks about his son in law but in an impersonal manner. His speech is meant to be the most emotional one.

The groom raises a toast to the bride and bridesmaid and thanks brideâ€™s parents for giving him their daughter. The best manâ€™s speech is the most entertaining one as he talks about groomâ€™s personal stories and his antics and raises a toast to bride and groom.

Nowadays wedding speeches has become a business as there are various online sites that provide customized wedding speeches for all categories. People are more and more getting interested in getting their speeches written from these professionals to catch the attention of the audience.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/humanities-articles/role-of-wedding-speeches.htm - Article Side

Webmaster - About Author:
Wedding speeches are an important part of weddings today. Wedding speeches has become a business as there are various online sites that provide customized wedding speeches for all categories. People are more and more getting interested in getting their speeches written from these professionals to catch the attention of the audience.

Article Keywords:
Wedding speeches

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!