Easy to install and mount, drop light ceiling panels are lightweight and dynamic as compared to regular lighting. Due to the hanging of the grid panels from the ceiling, they are usually made of several layers of translucent acrylic or plastic. Drop light ceiling panels help commercial establishments save on light fixtures, which would otherwise be required to install and mount lighting.

Flos Arco Most Popular Brand Of Indoor Lighting

The most popular brand of indoor lighting including ceiling lights and floor lamps in the market is Flos Arco. Designed by Achille Castiglioni and Pier Giacomo Castiglioni, two famous Italian architectural designers in 1962, Flos Arco products come in truly classical designs. Extending to an adjustable height and having a white Carrara marble base with a smooth finish, every Flos Arco floor lamp is made to add elegance and charm to your household interiors. An exquisite piece of art, you will find a dim switch that would allow you to create ambient lighting in every Flos Arco floor lamp.

Indoor Flos lighting comes in variegated designs, colors and has been crafted to enhance the interiors of every household. From diffused pleasant lighting to enhanced bright lighting, indoor Flos lighting can be used on ceiling, on the floor, and also on flat surfaces such as tables inside the house or the office premises. Drop light ceiling panels are however the best alternatives to using regular light panels because of the distinct advantages they have to offer.

Why should you buy drop ceiling lights? What do they have to offer? Drop ceiling lights come in a compact design and are therefore extremely convenient to handle and install partly due to the use of diffuser bulbs that come with them. You could easily change the intensity of the drop ceiling lights by changing the settings in the cubo box that needs to be purchased separately.

Whatâ€™s more? In certain cases, the drop ceiling light panels use fluorescent bulbs, which are energy efficient and provide lighting in the most efficient manner. Compact in design, drop ceiling lights take up little space inside the house or office and still provide the warmth and glow required for lighting up any space while giving a homey feeling to it.
