Metropolitan cities like Delhi, Mumbai and Bangalore have now become hubs of lavish shopping malls. Every day, thousands and lakhs of shopping freaks go to these malls; the crowd turns manifold on weekends. And, if it is one area, one space in the malls that gets the most foot falls (people coming in and going out), it must be the restrooms in the malls, right? So, it makes perfect sense to have a sturdy structure for the rest rooms so that they can withstand the tough Indian conditions.

High pressure compact laminates can be considered the best option to go for, when it comes to setting-up commercial restrooms in malls and other commercial places such as restaurants. Get them in your projects and you need not to shell any more money on their maintenance and replacement. In fact, theyâ€™re made to withstand any abuse that one can imagine, and thatâ€™s why, th last for years.
