Traveling is extremely uplifting and rejuvenating. A nice holiday can completely revitalize and refresh you. But as you come back from the holiday, you suddenly feel a post-holiday comedown. So, what is it that you can do to make sure that the magical feeling of the vacation remains with you for longer? You can capture the whimsical, inspiring moments of the holiday by making certain changes to your home-decor. These changes will help you create a home-decor thatâ€™s lively and full of sweet memories from your holidays!

You can go ahead with certain do-it-yourself ideas and bring a nice vacation-flavor to your home. According, to a survey it is noted that an average person stays at home for about 350 days in one year. Just think of it, wouldnâ€™t it be nice to give your home a vacation-feel to enjoy the rejuvenating feeling 350 days out of 365 days in an year? It surely would be amazing fun!

You can dig out those postcards that you bought from beautiful places that you visited. The beautiful pictures of landscapes, monuments, museums etc. will make for beautiful accessories on your beautiful oak texture chest in your drawing room. The pictures with sepia-tone edits in exotic frames will give your home a beautiful holiday look!

For the bedroom, you can use canvas frames. These frames are soft and are modern alternatives for the heavy vintage frames that you can hang on the walls of the room and even above the bed. The lively holiday-pictures displayed in the bedroom on counter tops, walls, chests etc. would make for beautiful art-works and inspirational visuals.

You can display vintage and artistic postcards that you collected on your travels in clusters in the kitchen, dining and lobby areas to add drama to the areas. You can also display the postcards together to form a look of wallpaper, edge to edge. You can hang these pictures on the walls to create borders of the walls.

Get going. Do your home with your travel souvenirs and enjoy the feeling of holiday at your home. No need to spend a fortune on painting walls or buying new furnishing items to deck up your home. You can display the posters, pictures, postcards on walls, on your laminate countertops, on corner tables etc. - just about everywhere and enliven the memories of your holidays. Such an atmosphere and home-decor would help you energize your mind, soul and heart every time you feel stressed and bogged down.
