Restaurant reception area plays a great role especially when parties, corporate lunches and cocktail dinners are organized. This area happens to be the first-look area during important functions and therefore, it becomes mandatory that people see the best that the restaurant has to offer. It is what a resume means for a job seeker. For big parties, the client always prefers a place that offers great variety. Whether, it is in terms of food, amenities or decor, variety and exclusivity is what always appeals.

The need of the hour is to keep innovating and evolving as much as possible. Therefore, when it comes to the interiors of a restaurant, one approach that has never gone wrong so far is the approach of thematic decor and the most effective yet simple to execute theme is Natural Theme.

Choose natural colours and textures that radiate natural energy to the place, which will prove very effective in pulling in more clients. Use oak laminates to do up the walls and furniture around the desk. Oak laminate is a type of textured laminate that exudes natural richness. It looks and feels exactly like touching an oak surface. What can be better than sticking to a look that will make one feel they have arrived in the woods!

Do not forget to pay attention to the modular table for the reception area. This forms the most important part of the furniture for the space. Use a combination of store fixtures with the modular table. Store fixtures comprise of designer chests, cupboards, shelves, flexible partitions, drawers, folders, file holders etc. This will help you keep the desk more tidy and organized. You can designate specific drawers for storing specific things and use the file holders and overhead shelves to keep all the required books and documents. After all, we always appreciate neat and methodical work environment.

It is understood that, to get the desired strength and durability from the modular table, you have to make use of composite laminate. Besides being sturdy and high pressure resistant, composite laminate also makes for a great fit to be used as desks and tables because of the edge-blends it has. No sharp and piercing edges protruding out of the modular desk would injure your guests. Edge-blends add to the required design edge in every laminate product.

Always remember that your reception area needs to be as striking as your main dining space is. After all, the place makes for the first impression. Moreover, as we all know, sometimes first impression is considered the last impression!
