How do you celebrate your weekend? Do you like lazying away at home? Or you like going to the malls and enjoy shopping and taking a sip of life around? Well, there are different kinds of people; there are introverts and there are extroverts etc. and different people have different kinds of tastes and past-times! Introverts like being at home while extroverts enjoy going out and enjoying visiting malls etc.

So what are you-an introvert or an extrovert? Well, if you are an introvert then, there is not much to do for you. You can just stay at home and relax. But if you are saying that you are an extrovert, you can visit malls, shops, markets and enjoy. Ever wondered what is it that you like in the malls? Is it the dÃ©cor of the place, the architecture of the place or is it the shopping experience? Well, it is a little bit of everything!

A mall experience is a combination of great architecture, shopping experience, brilliant ambience etc. Malls are about beautiful lighting, great looking shops, fabulous decorations, superb and comfortable toilet cubicles etc. It is not always the case that you must buy something or the other to be able to enjoy the experience in the malls. One can enjoy the mall experience by just being there in the place and having fun with the family.

It is not just the food courts, shops and showrooms etc. that offer a wonderful experience to the customers but it is also the most mundane of things that contribute to the overall experience at the place. These mundane things include facilities at the parking space, the toilet accessories in the restrooms, the seating arrangement outside of the mall etc.

It makes sense to say that little things do make a difference in how a particular thing/place etc. shapes up the whole impression about the place. Little things like parking space, inaccessibility of the area by public transport, poor outdoors etc. can make or break the impression about a mall space etc. Even when it comes to restrooms, things like restroom dividers and other accessories in the restroom contribute towards the overall experience of the place.

You need to figure out what exactly it is that you like doing on the weekend and get going with a fun plan for yourself. Enjoy the indoors or the outdoors, as you like. Be it the mall experience or the experience of being at homeâ€¦just enjoy and relax!
