Article published on May 25th 2012 | Interior Design

We live in times where there is constraint of space. Be it the ever rising population, or the shrinking living spaces, our homes are losing out on the benefit of expansiveness. If we take the example of our bathrooms, due to cramped up space there is usually clutter all around with no room for storing even basic essentials like cosmetics, shampoo, and other daily products properly. All this clutter turns the bathroom into a messy place whereas it should be a place that should be neat and clean, in short it should be the tranquil place in your house.

The solution to all these problems is installing modular restroom furniture like commercial toilet partitions and restroom dividers in your bathroom. Modular bathroom furniture gives the option of adding fitted bathroom furniture to the room. It gives the option of having a vanity unit that has an inclusive basin, water closet unit (WC), and additional cabinets or storage units.

The primary advantage of installing modular bathroom furniture is that it saves a lot of space. Your traditional bathroom would have your basin and WC at two opposites in the room but, the modular furniture would bring all essential bathroom supplies together in a neat section of various units. It would give a lot of space and free the unwanted clutter in your bathroom.

Modular restrooms bring a unique look to your bathroom and give the option of customizing the furniture according to your specifications. It adds to the level of comfort and convenience to both compact and large bathrooms. These restrooms also bring in the advantage of storage, as one can add any number of cabinets or storage units in the restroom. With these storage units your bathroom will become neat and tidy.

Modular bathrooms that have commercial toilet partitions and restroom dividers bring coordinated style. These bathroom partitions are available in various designs so the customers can choose what they desire. The units that have a matching wood finish or a sleek white gloss finish would give a unique look to your bathroom setting.

These commercial partitions are made from various materials like compact laminates, baked enamel, solid plastic, plastic laminate etc. They can be easily mounted in different areas of the bathroom. A wide range of floor partitions can be chosen from options like floor braced, ceiling hung, overhead braced and floor to ceiling bathroom partitions. These cubicles when arranged together form an extremely strong, durable and cost effective solution to manage your bathrooms. They can be replaced easily if any damage occurs and it surely stands the test of time.
