The wide range of Tiles in India by Amit Sachdeva

Article published on March 29th 2012 | Interior Design

One of the most important requirements in a house is tiles which are used widely for flooring purposes and for beautifying the walls in a kitchen as well as bathroom. Bathroom Tiles are one of the most well-liked means of beautifying this space of privacy and the simpler; it is the better it looks, as minimalism leaves an eye-catching view.

A broad variety of Tiles

Since times have changed for the better, there has been innovativeness in the designing part of a house. There are numerous tiles manufacturers in India engaged in the making of a huge range of floor and wall tiles that find extensive usefulness in beautifying a house. The huge ranges of tiles that are currently being manufactured in the nation are Vitrified tiles, designer tiles, ceramic tiles, glass and digital tiles. The vitrified tiles manufacturers are spread across the country, putting forward their best products in conditions of excellence and permanence. These are formed from clay, even though they include additives for example feldspar, quartz and silica.

But, when they are baked inside the oven, the melting procedure leaves a glass substrate all through the tile. The adding up of glass creates vitrified tiles that are tough and leave no openings on their surface. These are better-quality water resistant tiles, resistant in nature prohibiting flow of water to seep into the surface. One of the most superior tiles manufactured by tile manufacturers are the digital and designer tiles, which are being used broadly by approximately all the interior decorators in the nation.

First choice - Designer & Digital Tiles

There is a broad fondness for digital and designer tiles that are completely different from the normal ceramic tiles of previous days. The designer tiles have a motif or a pattern that is completely different and when tiled together offer a matchless design to the bathroom. The digital tiles are fundamentally graphic that have a digitized picture on them. A set of these positioned in a restroom present a completely different view of the room.

By means of the extensive demand for various kinds of tiles in the global market, the manufacturers have diversified into exports, since quality and cheaply priced tiles have created a trend in the international market.

Somanyâ€™s bathroom and kitchen tiles are acknowledged for anti bacterial properties and can kill germs easily making kitchens bacteria-free and odor-free. Kitchen wall tiles stop dirt and lubricant vapors to form an unwanted coating.

Somany ceramics offer a variety of floor as well as wall tiles, for beautifying the look of any kitchen and bathroom.
