Article Side
Overview on Indian Railways and the India Train by Simran Sharma

Article published on February 29th 2012 | Internet

India is a famous country with different culture and heritage. Today, India has been noted for its rapid growth and development in areas like transportation, production, infrastructure, tourism, information technology and other areas. Their transportation system is one of the best in the world. However, the India transportation system is among the fastest growing in the world with modern facilities that is being put in place by Indian government. Meanwhile, India has the best railways system and the largest railway network system in the world with more than one million staffs.

Moreover, the central government of India has done so well by providing lots of modern trains to boost transportation in India. Not only that, it also provided a luxury railway stations that is well equipped with modern facilities for passengers comfort. The introduction of Indian railways system has really helped a lot of business to grow. Many people can now take the advantage and the comfort of Indian railway system. The Indian railway also introduced a web based e-ticketing system and other services to take away the load off the railway ticketing department. With web based e-ticket system, passengers can now purchase their tickets online right inside their bedroom without going to the ticketing centers. With the e-ticketing system, passengers can even make reservations pending when they are ready to travel.

The e-ticket system also has helped in reducing the long queue that a lot of passengers have been experiencing when they want to purchase their tickets or make PNR Status Enquiry. The Indian railway also advanced the e-ticketing system by introducing the mobile phone application system to facilitate convenient booking for passengers and to also save time. I know by now that you are wondering what PNR means, well it simply means â€œPassengers Name Reservationâ€•. The governmer of India introduced the IRCTC PNR Status system so that the public can check their ticket status and to also know the current condition of their train.

With the web based electronic system (website), passengers can now Check PNR Status to know the status of their tickets. They can also book and pay for their tickets online. Meanwhile, with the e-ticket system, passengers can now choose seat number of their choice in any of the classes they paid for, like the fist class, executive class, business class and the economy class. On like before, the ticketing agents are the only authorized people who can allocate seat numbers to passengers. To ensure that the e-system is very efficient, the Indian railway established a technical department to ensure that the e-ticketing system is up and running. The department also carries out day to day maintenance and monitoring of the e-ticketing systems to avoid any technical fault.

Meanwhile, you can also check your Railway PNR Status anytime you want provided you have a computer system or a mobile phone with internet connection. Please note that the Railway PNR that is given to you when you purchased your ticket is a pin number that indicates that you have paid for your ticket and qualified to travel with the train. So always ensure that your PNR is kept safe. All information as regarding the routs and train status can be checked through IRCTC PNR Status.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/internet-articles/overview-on-indian-railways-and-the-india-train.htm - Article Side

Simran Sharma - About Author:
If you want to know more about a PNR Status Enquiry and other information on Railway PNR Status and secrets on how to easily a Check PNR Status, then visit http://www.checkpnrstatus.net

Article Keywords:
pnr status, check pnr status, railway pnr status, irctc pnr status

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!