

Article published on March 27th 2012 | Investing

Did you know that every year, there are around millions of pounds, which go unclaimed? Surprisingly there are a huge number of people who don't bother to claim for tax rebate. If you have queries related to uniform tax rebate then here are some basic points which might come helpful to you. Here take a look:

What tax rebate can I claim when I have a Uniform to wear at my workplace?

It is important that you be aware of claiming tax rebate when the employer you work with provides a uniform to you. This is simply because the uniform he provides needs to be maintained, which ultimately results in paying for maintenance costs.

The cost associated with taking good care of the uniform can be clubbed for claiming tax rebate. It is also to be noted that some job profiles require employees to put on attires, which may result in higher maintenance costs. In such cases the employee can avail larger amounts as tax refund. If you have larger sum to claim you may consider taking help from professionals who may assist in claiming tax rebate.

How is your uniform related to claiming tax rebate?

As mentioned in the aforesaid lines every employee has the right to claim for uniform tax refund because he has to pay maintenance costs to keep the attire in the best possible condition. However, if you are about to claim tax refund it is important that you wear the attire at work. Wearing a uniform would actually help people understand that you work for a particular organization.

Uniform that clearly helps identify the profession of an individual are the ones worn by policemen, nurse, firemen, supermarket employees and maids. In most cases uniform have logos attached helping people identify the employer you work with. Additionally there are organizations, which demand employees to wear safety uniform to avoid hazards involved in the work they do.

Do I have to request for claiming tax rebate?

In most cases employers have a talk with tax authorities to help employees claim for tax rebate; however, there are several employers who don't engage in taking initiatives to help employees avail tax relief. In such instances you may consider requesting the authorities to assist in claiming tax rebate. Moreover, you should have knowledge about the fact that you cannot claim an amount as per your wishes. The tax authorities have flat rates for uniform tax relief and your requirements have to comply with standards consider by them.

If you are worried about "what tax relief can I claim", you need to seek professional help from experts who are trained at handling such issues.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/investing-articles/an-insight-to-uniform-tax.htm> - Article Side

Robert William - About Author:

Robert William, a writer by choice and profession offers a comprehensive idea on all issues about taxation. Therefore, be it for a claiming tax rebate or a what tax relief can I claim advice is just a click away. For more information on tax and tax related issues, he recommends you to visit a <http://www.u-tax.co.uk/>.

Article Keywords:

claiming tax rebate, what tax relief can I claim

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!