Pension provides a sense of security and guarantee for the old age of every individual. It is this pension which makes them feel independent and also accordingly spend quality time with their family and in making future plans. There are many companies which approach such people who are on the verge of retirement with lucrative offers regarding Early pension release. They assure to provide you free and unique no obligation pension services which are absolutely tax free and do not have any hidden costs. This means that you can release cash from your pension funds within a short time. Howsoever tempting they may look but the main benefit is caused to the company offering you such plans.

These illegitimate companies do keep all your information confidential and do not require any income proof. They have marketing experts who can lure you with their good communications skills and tactics thereby making you believe the fact that Pension release is highly profitable for you. They would explain you with the various ways of pension release irrespective of the type of your pension fund. You just need to sell your pension to them in order to receive the cash. Paying your bills or managing your expenses in this form is not a good solution as you would left be nothing for your old age. These companies make false promises regarding quick cash and would ask you to transfer the pension in some overseas scheme which would save your taxes. But in return what you receive is just an assurance and nothing more. Immediate financial gain might sound lucrative in the current economic climate but when thought off in the long run you would be left with absolutely nothing.

Pension unlocking is not at all a beneficial option when you are about to retire. If need arises then be very careful and seek the help from experts who have experience and are trustworthy. Do conduct an in-depth research regarding the company you are choosing for pension encashment so that you are not deceived. Pension is your right and you should handle it with complete care and intelligence. Be clear with your thoughts to enjoy the benefits of pension and old age.
