Article published on June 27th 2012 | Jewelry

Every woman, no matter, to which stature she belongs wants to own a piece of diamond jewellery. The sparkle of these gemstones is something that seldom a woman can resist. However, the raising prices of diamond have has made it difficult for individuals to buy diamond earrings and other jewellery pieces made of diamond. Nonetheless, with the below mentioned criterion you will not only be able to buy diamond jewellery but also assure the diamonds give you a high re-sale vale.

Today, diamonds are available in the market in a number of fancy shapes such as princess cut, heart shaped diamond. It is common to see women wearing princess cut diamond rings. The prices of a diamond to a great extent are ascertained by its carat weight. So, if you are buying a bigger piece of diamond its value will be more as compared to a smaller piece of diamond of the same colour, clarity and cut. No wonder, more and more choose to have a big diamond piece for their wedding ring!

The most important factor, which is also a very common feature required to determine the diamond quality is the clarity. The clarity of the diamond can be ascertained using S1, VVS1 and so on. At times, common people are not aware of the quality of the diamonds and hence, it is recommended to get the certified diamond jewellery pieces only. This will ensure that whatever you are buying from your diamond jewellery is genuine.

Apart from the colour, which is generally measured in i-j and so on, the proper cut that helps to allow maximum amount of refraction, is one factor, which is often overlooked is the weight of the metal in which the diamond will be set. Thus, you can have your diamond earrings or pendant set in yellow, white or even platinum. The more gold that will be used for the diamond jewellery the more will be the price of the diamond jewellery. Whether, it is your princess cut diamond rings or necklace, you should make sure that the gold weight is able to support the jewellery piece. This will ensure that the diamond piece are intact and do not loosen up with the passage of time. All said and done, when picking up your diamond jewellery the design also plays an important part.

Today, the market is flooded with designer piece diamond jewellery, which uses creative ideas and themes to add value to the diamond jewellery. So, make certain you take care of all these considerations before you buy diamond jewellery whether for your loved ones or your self.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/jewelry-articles/buying-diamond-jewellery-read-on.htm - Article Side

Jitender - About Author:
a Loose Diamonds Engagement Rings-Browse our collections of high quality Certified Jewellery such as Platinum Wedding band pendant at very competitive price and many more like a Diamond Engagement Rings|a Platinum Engagement Rings|a gia diamond

Article Keywords:
Diamond Engagement Rings,Engagement Rings,Platinum Engagement Rings,Loose

Diamonds,diamond jewellery

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!