One of the most valuable and gorgeous gemstones we have on earth are emeralds. For people who were born in May, emerald rings would be very meritorious as a birthday gift. The lustrous and luxurious emeralds and gold offer unmatched beauty, one surely wouldnâ€™t want to neglect this ring. In addition, emeralds are popular among men because emeralds reflect a solid appearance which every man would want and also deep green color. Emerald rings for engagement and other celebratory occasions are the best choices as they are versatile in nature.

People opting for emeralds are attracted because of their dazzling shine and royalty and they have the same effect on the onlookers. Emerald rings are one of preferred choices of couples as they like to add richness and color to their relationship that would make the proposal or any other moment as memorable. Emerald rings are available in different colors, green, which is the exclusive color of this stone. However, there are several shades of green to choose from. Also, emerald needs a great care to let its shine and allow its preciousness to last longer and brighter.

Emerald ring should be kept away from direct sunlight and high temperature regions as its oil gets heated and dry in heat. Also, the ring should not be cleaned using detergents or soaps as they will result in loss of oil from the stone which would adversely affect its rich green color. Generally, ultrasonic cleaners are used for cleaning jewelry, but they should strictly not be used for cleaning emerald rings as it will result in inefficient life. The ultrasonic rays tend to make some embellishments in the emeralds. This may sound like a small thing but they can completely change the appearance of the stone. In the long run all its sheen and beauty can be lost just because of these ultrasonic rays.

A clean dry cloth should be used to clean your emerald ring and it is recommended because it would not affect it antagonistically. The metals used for emerald engagement rings are gold and platinum. Emerald engagement rings are easily available at any jewelry showroom in all local areas. Accented by diamonds, emerald will go with almost any skin tone. The dark green color of emerald is produced because it has less air bubbles as compared to aquamarine which is the only difference between the two.
