There are varieties of rings available in the market but many people have now started buying those rings which are not so common. One of the rings which are not so common is the emerald rings. These emerald rings are found in green color but looks really good on the finger. Well the increase in demand of the emerald rings is because of several factors but one of the main reasons in increase in demand is because of the New Year. During this time of the year everyone wants to purchase some or the other products for themselves, for family or either for their home. Thus at this time of the year many companies offer different kinds of schemes and discounts to attract more number of customers. At this time people feel that the companies are offering discount because they want to sell the products at low prices which were not sold last year.

Well people must understand that there are varieties of companies which have got regular order from various parts of the world and these companies do not shut down their machines on a single day in the whole year. Thus people must understand that the products which are offered to the customers are not from the left stock but fresh material.

The companies look to reduce price at this time of the year because they want to stay in the market for a longer time. There are many people who only purchase product during festive season. Thus the companies reduce prices at this stage to increase their sale and make the customer happy. The customer satisfaction helps the company to create goodwill in the market, while the increasing sales help the companies to finish their set goals for the year with ease.

Another reason for increasing demand of these rings is because there are many people who propose to their loved at this point of the year. New Year is one such festive occasion which everyone wants to remember. So to make remember one has to try and make it memorable, therefore many people propose their loved ones at this time of year.

There are many companies which are offering emerald engagement rings also at this point of the year at reasonable prices. These rings are unique, less costly and beautiful which makes the demand of these rings go higher and higher. One can look for the style and design of these rings on the internet also.
