Gemstones are beautiful to look at, and equally gorgeous to don. Gems occur naturally from stones like lapis lazuli and range from precious to semi-precious kind. Excellent additions as jeweleries, these stones have formed the crux of female and male adornment from time immemorial. These lustrous properties are of many varieties, some of the most common ones being ruby, emerald, topaz, cats-eye, jasper, amethyst, pyrite, quartz, rose quartz, opal,etc. Gemstone rings are very popular, owing to the rarity and value of the stones they hold. Gold rings without a gemstone set in the centre is almost non-existent in current times.

Considering their frenzy among females, goldsmiths have innovated new patterns and concepts to design jewellery inclusive of stones to create attention arresting pieces. Since stones have been colored in many shades, users are no longer limited or stuck with the original hue. As most females are fixated by the color pink, dark pink sapphires have been introduced in the market. Ladies can buy themselves gemstone rings made of platinum and set with a combination of pink sapphires and white diamonds. The ring can be further adorned with a milgrain border and alternate setting of stones. Gold rings with all pink sapphires or white diamonds will give out a gorgeous look.

For a bold looking finger piece, girls can try out a simple ring band of sterling silver, set with blue sapphires, rubies or blood-colored garnets on a channel-like setting. The item will also look good in white gold. Yellow sapphires on gold rings also make a fine combination as the yellow tinge from both the components cast an added glow to the piece. You can further beautify it by adding small-cut diamond stones in-between and add an edge to the design.

However, if you are daydreaming of buying gemstone rings, then you should start with picking your choice of stone. This will help you make an estimate of the net price of the ring, including the metal, stone and manufacturing charge. Secondly, the rarity of the stone will slide up the price scale steadily. A simple example is that of Tsavorite Garnet, which is very rare and hence, very precious. However, Emeralds are more sought because of their historic value and craze among its users. Secondly, gold rings with stones set in them require to be evaluated of their durability. A knowledge that most buyers are not aware of is that diamonds donâ€™t fit on over 18K gold.

Thus, diamond jewels usually are priced lower on the gold band due to their semi-high quality. The best way to buy jewels presently is to seek the items from the online goldsmiths. These stores offer customized designs that will allow you to acquire a ring which is exactly what you wanted.
