As a kid starts going to school, parentsâ€™ excitement with a blend of happiness starts growing. However, the tension of their childâ€™s well-being also gets mixed with the same feeling. They keep on worrying if their child would be safe in the school or not. Therefore, parents should go through the following points before they choose any school for their kidâ€™s admission.

â€¢ Before admitting a kid to any school, parents should do a research in a proper way on the schoolâ€™s emergency measures. All the instructions regarding emergency are mostly mentioned in the handbook provided by the schools. Kids should be given a few minutes to read the handbook so as to make them aware of how to handle an emergency situation. The kids can be offered the confidence to act fast in such situations â€¢ Another thing that is of utmost importance is to know the travel routes of the kid. Both of the parents and their kid should be well-familiar with the primary and the every other route, if there is any. In a situation of emergency, roads may be blocked, therefore it is vital to have a backup plan â€¢ Just having the knowledge of the school security measures is not enough. Parents also should follow those measures in the same way. This should be the main responsibility of the parents to be a path finder for their kids and act as a role model to teach kids all the necessary safety measures â€¢ Parents also opt for simple games that can make their awareness increase towards safety measures. Kids catch anything fast when something is presented before them in a creative and interesting way. Therefore, opting for games to grab the attention of the kids is the wisest idea

These days schools develop a number of ways to deal with any unwanted circumstances. Many of the schools opt for CCTV cameras in different corners of the school premises that help the administration to keep a healthy and positive atmosphere in the school. A wide exposure to a variety of hazards, insufficiencies in the structure and lack of awareness measures can have unsuccessful outcomes in the happening of any adversity.
