What can be worse for children when they donâ€™t get support from their parents when they need it the most? Well, children do not anything else than their parents presence. A single glance of parents can solve many problems. It has been found in many cases that children even take serious steps like suicide when they fail to get the support from their parents. Upto a certain age, parents mean the entire world to them.

Children love to be in the limelight in any place, be it home or any other place. But they love it more when they get the entire attention of their parents. A small mistake by parents can make children depressed. Especially, the adolescents need it the most. The adolescent period is the period in anybodyâ€™s life when they become the victims of diseases like depression and frustration. The hormonal changes occur the most in a manâ€™s body in that age. Parents should pay more attention to the kids of that age as compared to other ages. There are certain etiquettes that should be taught to children. When parents fail to spare proper time for their kids, they also fail to learn those etiquettes and finally suffer in the rest part of their lives.

Moreover, when children find their parents to be present in every turns of their lives, it builds up confidence in them. They feel secured and donâ€™t find themselves left alone. It is the one of the greatest urge of the children to spend a good time with their parents. These days, most of the parents are working, and thus it becomes difficult for them to spare time for their children. Parents should have certain days especially reserved for their children. This makes a special bonding between the child and the parents. Parents should communicate well with their kids because communication makes the kids confident and learns good communication.

No matter how busy the parents are, but they should spare their time at least during the dinner time or the breakfast time. Dinner time is the best time to sit, eat and talk because both parents and children can share their entire dayâ€™s experience with each other. These interactions also help parents to come closer to their kids and have an idea about their intentions. Parents also should take their children on vacations and this is one of the things that children love the most.
