â€œHi Annie, whatâ€™s up? Well, Bob is getting 2 years old day after tomorrow, so you have to come to c place on the day, and I donâ€™t want to listen to any NO, All right?â€• This was not the only invitation for me of the year. Since, I love socializing with people, so people also get mingled up with me easily. Such invitations are the most common thing that I get in a month at least for three to four times. Though, I like attending those parties, but my mind stops working when it comes to buying a gift for the kids. No it is not because I am miser or something; it is just because my ideas of gifting are very poor. I get confused when it comes to buy a gift. Moreover, when I buy something for kids, the only question that almost crunches my mind is whether the kid will like this gift or not.

As we know children are fickle minded, therefore it is hard to buy a perfect gift for them, because they tend to get bored with anything very easily. Well, on the other hand, we also know that nothing is impossible on this planet. Hence we can opt for some gift ideas that can guide us to buy some quality gifts:

1. It is quite easier to gift something to the kids of less than 3 years because they do not prefer any specific thing and enjoy anything and everything that are given to them. The only thing we should keep in mind is the color. Kids love colors, so it is a wise idea to buy bright colored gifts for the kids.

2. From three to five years, kids enjoy creative games. To that age of children, Toys and games like building blocks, battery operated toy train, etc., can be gifted.

3. The age of five to ten years is enough for kids to get of sense of building their own preference. Therefore, their gifts should be bought carefully. Though, it becomes easier, because gifts for this age range of kids are easily available. We can buy anything for them, such as scrapbooks, cycles, skates, video games, materials to paint, and even dancing dolls but especially for the girl children.

4. Gifting something to the kids of the age range of eleven years to fourteen years is quite complicated. This is the when they do not enjoy anything that you give them. Their preference for the stuffs gets stronger, and if they do not like something, they tend not to use the thing ever. Therefore, gifts should be bought for them with extreme care. Moreover, one should be careful while buying it because at this age, the preferences of gifts differ between boys and girls. If we are buying something for boys, then light gadgets are best for them, and if it for girls then accessories are best for them. Apart from that, both of the kids can be given games such as Chess, Ludo, and business game also.

With these gift ideas, attending a birthday party becomes easier. If we buy a perfect gift for the birthday kid, then the entire party goes well, at least from our side.
