Christmas has reached at your door and still you are worrying about your expenses in the festival. The stress of purchasing lavish products to present your near and dears can be overpowering. A research done by Saga, states that the youngsters would pay about four hundred pounds for family gift this festival.

Nevertheless, the people are trying to cut the cost in the hardest financial crisis. We have come across a recent report by the co-operative Bank and it has claimed that 75pc English youth plan to spend very few on the festival compared to last year. 55 per cent people out of three thousand have said that they would sleek expenses on the new garments and gifts.

Money is very important for us when the financial institutions are hardening their policy, but the most festive day can never be ignored. So letâ€™s come on some important points made by experts. According to the expert, with very little preparation and skill, it is very possible for a family, comprising of four members, to enjoy the festival for only hundred pounds. And the inexpensive package includes gifts, food and beautifications.

Emma Bryn-Jones of Credit Free web portal has suggested that the amount can be divided into some parts to make it friendly to manage. She suggests dividing the money into three pots of thirty three pounds â€“ one for dinning, second for gifts and the last for hang out. And if you get some pounds saved from one pot, just put it in another pot as per the expenses. It all depends on your management. One the other hand, Bryn-Jones adds that one should get mini Christmas dinner and it can be enjoyed by spending about twenty pounds only.

Other tips are to buy anything from independent outlets. Bryn-Jones says that if we need to buy cheese, we can visit an independent shop and can get it at the reasonable prices. Wine or whisky can be more expensive in the festival, so if we intend to save money on expenses, it is very important to enjoy the alcohol-free Christmas.

Apart from these all, you can also cut the cost of cards and paper wrappers. The experts suggest sending emails cards. It is very important to understand the meaning of Christmas.
