Comparison of Maitredee360 and Open table as restaurant reservation system by Siketich Simon

Article published on May 26th 2012 | Management

With the advent of technology, everything is getting simplified and advanced because of which people prefer to procure their requirements with the click of the mouse. Same is the case with restaurant these days. A booking over phone or going in person to the restaurant for reservation is just too outdated. Many of the restaurants have got their own personalised website displaying their menu, location, interior and much more that easily turns the internet surfers into customers.

If you are a restaurant owner and your business lacks attention then you are definitely not equipped with restaurant reservation and booking system. So now when you know in what direction you need to go an extra mile to target the profits seized by your competitors, you must get a restaurant reservation system that is featured with tools that not only makes your work easily but also makes your client feel how important he is to you!

Too Many Options:

With an increasing demand for the reservation and booking system, there are many companies emerging with software that claims to provide your restaurant the attention it lacks and the edge over others to make you stand out in the crowd. But not all stand by what they say and so it becomes essential to comprehend which company provides genuine software and is worth every penny spent. Out of the stacks Maitredee360 is a promising company offering a splendid restaurant reservation and booking system to its prospective customers. Similar to it, is another company named Opentable which also states that it can grab a good market share for you. We wonâ€™t be in a position to choose one until we have a detailed comparison of both.

Maitredee360overOpentable:

For various reasons as well as features Maitredee360 is favoured by many customers and of them some are mentioned below which Opentable lacks:

The first and foremost reason is Maitredee360 offers an attractive website for your restaurant, personalised your way, wherein your location will be displayed as well as the food menu so that the customers can get to see if their favourite cuisine is served and at what rates.

This website gives your customers an impeccable option of making online bookings on the click of the mouse.

The website is linked with the software Maitredee360 provides you for the in house activities of the restaurant and so the bookings made online are automatically added to your list maintained by the employees. With this you save lot of time as you need not keep a track of your online bookings by visiting the website. On the other hand Opentable doesnâ€™t like your website to the software, the client has to do this on their own.

Opentable provides you with various other restaurant options nearby the restaurant you are looking for, this gives rise to the possibility that your competitors will eat up your profits, whereas with Maitredee360 you can safeguard your revenues because it doesnâ€™t recommend your rival over you.

The payment system is also very much affordable as you need to pay onetime cost unlike opentable where continuous payments are to be made according to the number of reservations.

Maitredee360 has designed 4 incredible packages to offer where each on has got something to make you earn additional profits.

With this it is evident why Maitredee360 is much sorted after when it comes to restaurant reservation and booking system.
