Creative Way of Using Dry Erase Magnetic Calendar

by Zelnik V. Matvill

Article published on January 23rd 2012 | Management

Whiteboard calendars are very useful in planning and organizing office, home or school daily and monthly activities. You can also post important schedules, information and meetings in the whiteboard calendar. As time goes by, various types of whiteboard calendars has been created. There is what we call a standard whiteboard calendar which is commonly designed as a one-month activity planner, wherein you can write down your daily or weekly schedules for that certain month. Another is the dry erase board calendar which makes cleaning and erasing easier. There is also a glass board calendar which is more expensive than the standard whiteboard calendar. Another type of a whiteboard calendar which is one of the most convenient types of board calendar is the dry erase magnetic calendar.

A dry erase magnetic calendar has commonly a one-month activity format. The board is divided into 7x5 grid in which the column area contains the days from Sunday to Saturday. You will have to manually indicate the month on the blank portion at the top of the board. You must also fill the dates for that certain month, like for example, for the month of January you have to write the dates from January 1 to January 31. The dry erase feature of the magnetic calendar makes cleaning and erasing of the contents on the board less of a hassle. It ensures cleanliness and neatness on the board upon erasing the contents on the calendar. No matter how long you leave the writings on the board, you wonâ€™t have to worry because of its dry surface. To clean the board, you can simply wipe the surface of the board with a damp cloth or whiteboard eraser.

Aside from just simply writing down your daily activities and important information on the whiteboard calendar, from the name itself, the dry erase magnetic calendar has been created to allow a particular user to put small magnets on the whiteboard calendar. The additional element of the dry erase magnetic calendar is basically designed to attract magnets. There are several ways on how to manage a dry erase magnetic calendar. By just using a variety of vibrant and colorful magnets on the dry erase magnetic calendar, you can enhance your creativity and can add life to the board presentation. You can add amazing backgrounds to the board calendar with the use of decorative magnets. You can also practice your creativeness by means of using eye-catching and attractive magnets. You may form and arrange a letter, a word or a phrase with the use of small magnets. You can as well save space because you can insert additional notes or memos with the use of papers using the magnet as paper holder.

A dry erase magnetic calendar is more expensive than that of the standard whiteboard calendar because of the materials that is being used. The number and quality of different magnets that you are going to use also adds up to the cost. Although dry erase magnetic calendar is quite expensive, the usage of such is still worth it because you can make your whiteboard calendar presentation more artistic and lively by simply using multicolored magnets.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/management-articles/creative-way-of-using-dry-erase-magnetic-calendar.htm - Article Side

Zelnik V. Matvill - About Author:
I'm Zelnik V. Matvill of Cagayan de Oro, Philippines. I love to discover smart and creative ways of organizing my daily activities and improving my job. I like to determine what are the a dry erase magnetic calendar that I'm going to use in order to organize our office schedules.

Article Keywords:
dry erase magnetic calendar

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!