Choose Tibetan Jewelry as a Gift by Catherine

Article published on June 26th 2012 | Marketing

When it comes to mysticism and cultures that can change our lives, one of the greatest of them all finds its roots in Tibet. The general view of their followers is bald, skinny men that wear orange robes that stand around chanting all day long. Tibetan jewelry is known not only for its beauty and uniqueness of style, but people believe that it has supernatural abilities. Besides, Tibetan jewelry carries a traditional cultural shade of Tibet telling much interesting about its peculiarities and differences from other cultures. This explains the exotic look and mysterious meaning of Tibetan jewelries. Nowadays, many modern people prefer Tibetan jewelry not only for its attractiveness but also because it's believed to have mysterious features. Thus, according to the beliefs of Tibetan Buddhism, the jewelry is has the ability to protect people from different diseases, prolongs people's lives, removes fear of death, and gives wealth.

Tibetan jewelry using the Golden Fish symbol is usually worn for good fortune. Positioned upright with their heads turned inwards, the two fish first appeared in the Indian culture as a symbol for the two sacred rivers Ganga and Yamuna. In Buddhism they symbolize happiness, fertility and abundance. The Treasure Vase symbol worn as Tibetan jewelry is meant to attract the infinite riches of this world. It consists of a fat-bellied vessel with a narrow and short neck, covered with a large jewel. It symbolizes endless wealth and prosperity. Tibetan jewelry representing the two Golden Fish and the Treasure Vase can make very nice and suitable wedding gifts representing only good wishes for the future family.

This spring is unique as it offers you an opportunity to bring the feeling of freshness into you're the life of your family and into the lives of your friends. It' true to say that the Tibetan jewelry is unique not only due to its exclusive designs and styles but also for the mystery it offers. They believe that people wearing Handmade Tibetan jewelry become the main focus of the life of other people surrounding them.

Form of expression of traditional Tibetan jewelry depends on the Tibetans idea, social formation, the traditional modes of production and life, especially the traditional nomadic life. This needs to convert property accumulated by the whole family and even a few generations to jewellery. Tibetan jewelry also chooses great symbols from nature, like the Lotus flower, one of the most beautiful creations of nature. This is also a representation for the struggle that each of the Tibetan followers has to face in order to achieve tranquility and piece of mind.
