Something About Special Tibetan Jewelry by Catherine

Article published on July 9th 2012 | Marketing

In the 1990s, Tibet fever raged in China and abroad. It featured the expansion of Tibetan Buddhism and an increased interest in the Tantric aspect of Tibetan Buddhism. Tibetan Handmade Jewelry and Tibetan Artworks like Tibetan Thangka, Tibetan Malas Beads, Tibetan Singing Bowl, Tibetan Satue...are widely popular among people around the world. Tibet and the Tibetan ethnic group are now the theme of numerous literary and art works, and of film and television documentaries.

Tibetan Necklace Materials Tibetan Necklaces is one of our most popular Tibetan Jewelry, offering a rainbow of gorgeous colors, featuring Garnet, Carnelian, Lime Jade, Turquoise, Peridot, Blue Lace Agate, Clear Quartz and Amethyst Semi-Precious Gemstones. Garnet I want to say something about Garnet. Garnet cleanses and energizes all chakras. It inspires love and devotion, and brings emotional harmony. It also strengthens the survival instinct, and brings hope and courage into seemingly hopeless situations. It can help you get rid of behavioral patterns that no longer serve you, and let go of useless ideas and beliefs. If you want different kind jewelry, welcome to Tibetan Fashion Jewelry world.

The most precious & widely used gemstones in Tibetan artworks & Tibetan jewelry - turquoise & coral. Coral is known to be used as a gem since prehistoric times. Has a history of religious meaning and is one of the seven treasures in Buddhist scriptures. Turquoise is one of the world's earliest-used gem materials. Ranked with the jades of the Orient and lapis in the Near East, turquoise has been revered for thousands of years. Coral was long thought to be a strong talisman against bleeding, evil spirits, and hurricanes.

Tibetan Jewelry using the Golden Fish symbol is usually worn for good fortune. Positioned upright with their heads turned inwards, the two fish first appeared in the Indian culture as a symbol for the two sacred rivers Ganga and Yamuna. In Buddhism they symbolize happiness, fertility and abundance. The Treasure Vase symbol worn as Tibetan jewelry is meant to attract the infinite riches of this world. It consists of a fat-bellied vessel with a narrow and short neck, covered with a large jewel. It symbolizes endless wealth and prosperity. Tibetan jewelry representing the two Golden Fish and the Treasure Vase can make very nice and suitable wedding gifts representing only good wishes for the future family.

You can wear it as a religious symbol and alternatively, as an ethnic piece of Tibetan Jewelry. When you think of a Tibetan, let your imagination go beyond the deity of it. You will find these jewelry in beautiful loops, encrusted with precious and semi-precious stones. You might even find some rare designer jewelry, if you look for them persistently.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/marketing-articles/something-about-special-tibetan-jewelry.htm - Article Side

Catherine - About Author:
With much more information about a Tibetan Jewelry, pay a visit at our online store where you can buy it with high satisfaction.

Article Keywords:
Tibetan Jewelry

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!