Article published on February 25th 2012 | Marketing

People who have a knowledge regarding third party retention and acquisition companies operating in US is certain to have heard of The Socal Group Inc which has been dealing in customer acquisition and retention related domains in South California for quite some years now. So, the obvious question that is probably coming in the minds of most of the readers is what is the real implication of The Socal group scam, reviews of which are visible on the web even today?

Basically, if you search the web, you will truly come up with several negative feedbacks but practically all those rumors are fake and intentionally fabricated and published by their business rivals to hinder their growth and in the process tarnish their hard earned brand name and reputation.

The Socal group inc is a common name in the world of promotion and marketing related services. The company boasts of a diversified clientele including clients of every class, section and stature. Starting from the privately held small businesses to the globally operating leading multi nationals, clients from every industrial sector can be found in their service list which itself reveals their professional expertise and reputation.

Though it started its journey from California, it quickly spread its base to other parts of the country as well which forced their rivals to come up with such illegal strategies to try and create a negative perception in the minds of the clients.

However, let this writer re ascertain the true fact that in terms of services and offerings, Socal Group has been one of the best in business and will continue to be so by every chance. The company puts personalized efforts for each of their clients irrespective of the status of the client or size of product and this thought of equal treatment and personal communication have helped it reach sky limits over the years.
