Android App Maker Free - Appsbar by Mobile Apps

Article published on August 6th 2012 | Mobile Phones

Hands down Google has led our tech tastes since they first launched as an organizer of the Internet â€” and what they have done with apps is no different.

The app evolution, and appsbar as an Android app maker for free, would not have been possible without Googleâ€™s dedication to an ecosystem where with just a few mouse clicks and anyone could build and publish an app.

Appsbar makes it fast and easy to create Android apps â€” and users donâ€™t require any programming and tech skills whatsoever. As a matter of fact, to use appsbar as a drag and drop app builder, all anyone needs is an email address!

Appsbar also lets anyone build Apple (iOS apps) for free â€” but as an app building tool, an app builder for Windows, the Android fan community has helped launch appsbar 10 Google Play stardom (with over 12 million app launches in under one year)!

Google turned Android Market, and then Google Play, into a rich, open-source community where apps were easy to submit and easy to approve. Appsbar has helped more than 110,000 every day app builders find a home for their apps in Google Play.

For some appsbar users, building an app for free means simply re-purposing the online content they already have â€” such as turning a blog or website into an app â€” and optimizing for mobile. For most appsbar users, though, appsbar is the way that anyone can build free build apps as photo galleries or YouTube videos. But tens of thousands more people have found appsbar to be the best app maker for Windows and other HTML5 sites because users have limitless control over the appearance and style of a highly customizable app.

There's nothing cookie-cutter about an app made with appsbar â€” itâ€™s limitless customization â€” and with appsbar, unique apps are as unique as each app builder!
